Greenville University Mission Statement

Greenville University empowers students for lives of character and service through a transforming Christ-centered education in the liberal arts, sciences, and professional studies.

Contemporary Music Center Mission Statement

The mission of the Contemporary Music Center is to prepare students for careers in the entertainment industry as Christ-followers through a project-based, experience-centric curriculum.

Course Description

This course, often referred to as “Road Trip” or “Tour” is the capstone experience of the semester. Students and faculty embark on a 6 to 8-day tour of college campuses and clubs mounting a show each night with full production; lights, sound, staging, video wall and cameras. Every student is involved in the process either as a performer, part of the technical staff or as a producer. The Business track students are also required to keep the tour on budget by tracking costs and providing a daily analysis of the budget.

Course Objectives

By completing this course, students should be able to:

1. Execute the successful load-in and load-out of a large musical tour
2. Create and pace a show, including musical elements, production technology, and stage chatter
3. Assess individual performer strengths and designed a show bill that is worth a hard-ticket price
4. Plan and manage a budget without overruns
5. Develop a marketing plan to promote shows in advance and day-of

Methods of Instruction & Expectations

The table below outlines how the assignments and activities fulfill course objectives and align to program, department, and institutional objectives.

SLO	Program Objectives	Course Objective	Assignments/ Activities
2	1	1	2
2	1	2	3
3	1	3	3
2	1	4	3
5	1	5	3

1. Attendance and Participation: Students are expected to come to pre-production days fully prepared to execute their assigned tasks.
2. Response Journal: Daily reflection papers written while on tour chronicling the success/failure of their assigned duties and impact on overall tour
3. Practicum Portfolio: At the end of tour, each student creates a portfolio demonstrating the work completed in their assigned tour position.

Evaluation and Grading

Course grades are calculated as follows:

Activity	Percent of grade
Attendance and Participation	60%
Response Journal	20%
Practicum Portfolio	20%
Total	100%

Grade	Points
A	100-93
A-	92-90

B	86-83
B-	82-80
C+	79-77
C	76-73
C-	72-70
D+	69-67
D	66-63
D-	62-60
F	59 and under

Contemporary Music Center Student Learning Outcomes

The following Student Learning Objectives guide the Contemporary Music Center Program:

1. Master the pre-professional skills necessary to secure an entry-level position in the entertainment industry
2. Formulate a vocational versus a vocational calling to a career within the entertainment industry
3. Construct an apologetic for the mission and work of a Christ-follower within the entertainment industry

Greenville University Student Learning Outcomes

Greenville University's General Education Program reflects the institution's belief in holistic education that builds Christian character, expands the mind to consider broad perspectives, develops awareness of a global community and beckons students to consider questions critically, creatively and through a Christian lens.

The following Student Learning Objectives guide the Greenville University General Education Program and the aims of the Departmental Programs:

1. CRITICAL SELF-AWARENESS – Recognize and develop personal strengths, subjecting individual ideas and expression to critical analysis and revision.
2. KNOWLEDGE AND SKILL - Employ truth-seeking measures through the use of critical inquiry, including appropriate and relevant research.
3. COLLABORATION AND COOPERATION ACROSS DISCIPLINES - Collaborate and cooperate effectively with others, based on open dialogue and mutual respect.
4. COMMUNICATION - Communicate effectively, using written, oral and creatively artistic methods.
5. CULTURAL AND AESTHETIC VALUES - Recognize the value of diverse cultures and their contributions.
6. CHARACTER AND APPLICATION OF CHRISTIAN VIRTUES - Articulate the integrating of Christian faith with living and learning.

Campus Resources

The Contemporary Music Center has a variety of student support systems in place. See Warren Pettit for information.

Accommodations

Reasonable accommodations are available for students who have a documented disability. Please notify the instructor during the first week of class of any accommodations needed for the course. Late notification may cause the requested accommodations to be unavailable. All accommodations must be approved the CMC Director.

Title IX

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories such as race, national origin, etc. If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted, you can contact Ross Baker, our Title IX Deputy Coordinator, at 618.664.7115, or use our Incident Reporting Form.

The Contemporary Music Center Policy on Writing and Plagiarism

The Contemporary Music Center is committed to helping students improve writing. The program expects all courses to contain a writing component as part of the evaluation of student progress. We expect students to produce written work that is focused, well developed, organized, and relatively free of grammatical, punctuation and spelling errors. Papers that fall short of this standard will not be accepted; the work will be returned to the student for revision within a reasonable time. Students in a Christian off-campus study program are expected to do all academic work with integrity. This means that they should practice academic honesty without exception. The CMC takes this so seriously we ask all incoming students to sign a statement guaranteeing that they understand the notion of academic integrity and will conform to the policies described below.

All forms of academic dishonesty, which include cheating and plagiarism, are inappropriate in the program. Cheating and plagiarism are variations on a theme: both involve offering the work of another as one's own. Students cheat and/or plagiarize when they:

Give or receive aid from another student or other person during a test, quiz, or homework assignment when they were told to work alone.

Copy all or part of another student's work-an exam, worksheet, homework assignment, essay, speech, musical composition, web production, etc.-and submit it as their own work.

Copy all or part of any published or copyrighted source such as a book, periodical article, or musical composition and submit it as their own work.

"Cut and paste" information from a digital source such as a CD-ROM or web page and submit it as their own work.

Steal ideas or conceptual frameworks from another source and submit them as their own without giving proper credit to the source.

Submit other people's work as their own (e.g. a roommate's term paper or one purchased over the Internet).

Ask someone else to complete a writing project for them and revise and edit the work in such a way that they are not really the one responsible for the final document. (Please note: CMC faculty often encourage students to share their work in progress with others. This is simply a good habit for any scholar that we fully endorse. What we don't want students to do is let another person take over and complete an academic task that is their own responsibility.)

This list is not exhaustive, but should give a clear idea of what constitutes academic dishonesty. In general terms, academic dishonesty occurs when people knowingly or unknowingly take credit for words or ideas that are not their own in work that is produced for a class, presentation, publication, or other public domain. All forms of cheating and plagiarism involve intellectual theft, and thou shalt not steal!

Students are responsible to use appropriate quotation marks whenever they use words from another source. They must cite sources for ideas that originated with others. They are responsible to learn the specific documentation methods required in their chosen academic disciplines. Whenever they are in doubt about how to cite sources or use others' writings in their own, they should ask a professor.

At the CMC academic dishonesty has severe consequences. If instructors discover any instance of cheating or plagiarism, they are well within their rights to assign a failing grade for that assignment or for the course. Furthermore, they must report the student to the program Director. If a second instance of academic dishonesty occurs, the student will receive a failing grade for the course, and the case will be forwarded to the Vice President of Academic Affairs at Greenville University for review and possible further disciplinary action. A student may be expelled from the program for repeated or extreme violations of academic integrity. Appeals can be handled through the normal judicial process.

Note from the Center for Teaching and Learning: Recycling previous work – even if it is your own work – is also known as “self-plagiarism.” If you see an opportunity to reuse work you have completed for another class, be sure to get instructor approval before doing so.
